FOREWORD

To the casual reader this book will portray most of the joys and experiences that can be encountered in a co-educational institution.

To the class, may it be a memorial worthy of true and loyal sons and daughters of Susquehanna, a source of happiness in hours of sadness, a memoir of the most intimate associations and truest friendships of a lifetime.

THE ORANGE AND MAROON

The story we would tell you, friends,
Would cover many a book;
The subject matter of the same
Is found in every nook
Of old S. U.'s broad campus,
The common battle ground,
Whose trees might whisper secrets grave,
Amusing and profound.

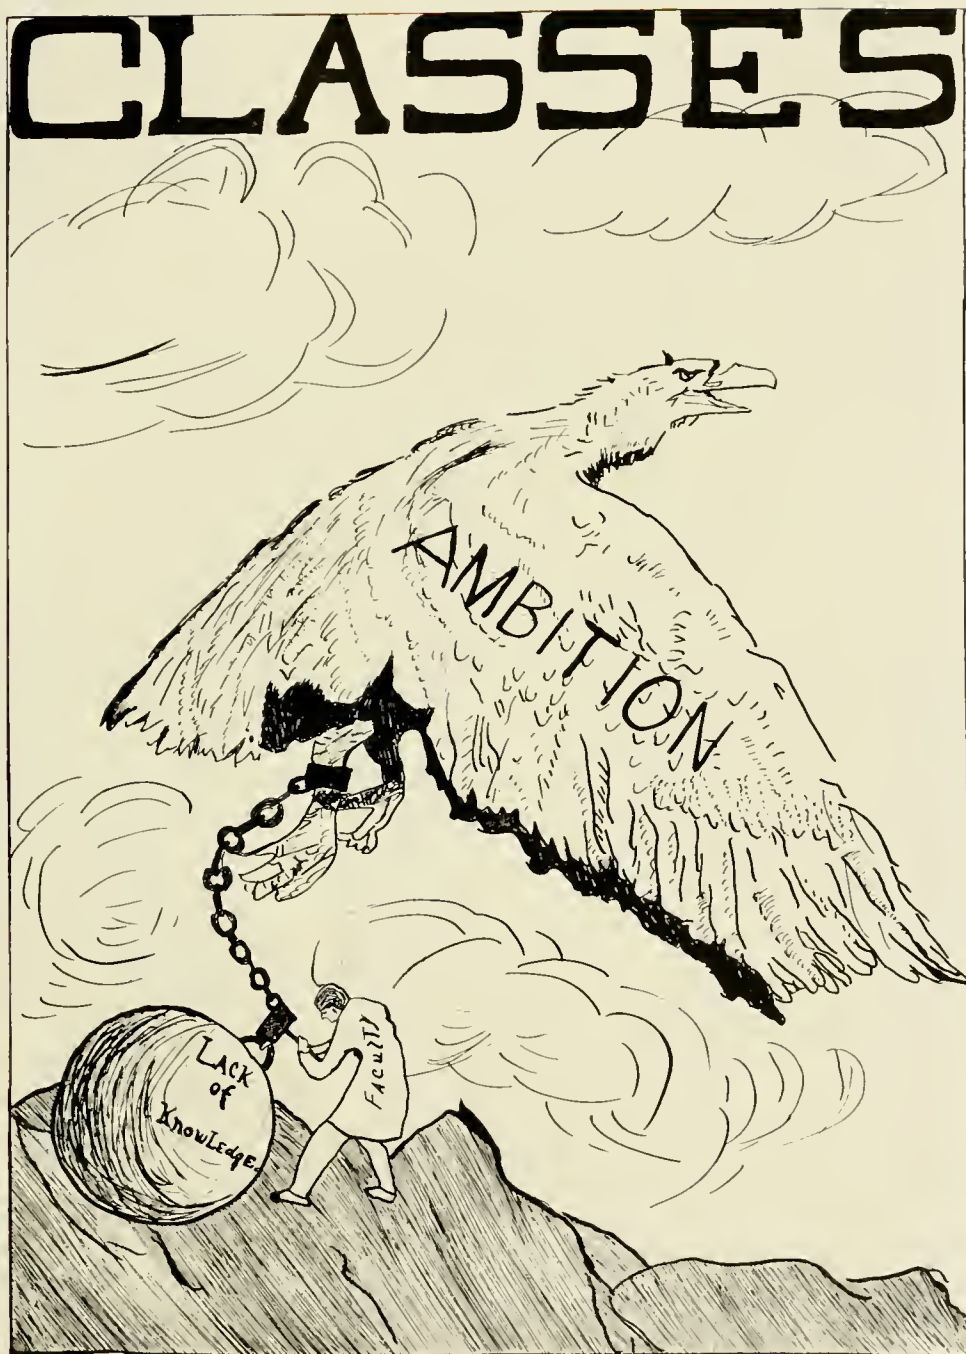

CHORUS

Of Susquehanna, now we sing,
Let Susquehanna's praises ring,
Loyal to her by night and by noon,
We'll raise the Orange and Maroon,
Loyal to her by night and by noon,
We'll raise the Orange and Maroon.

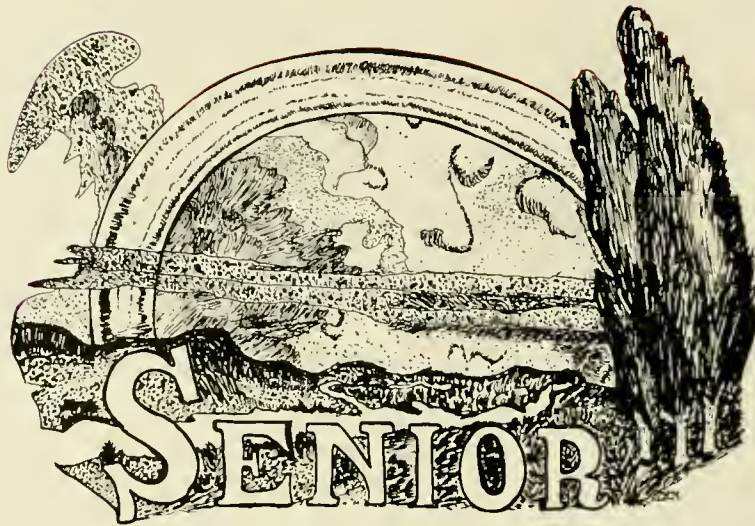

How dear to one and all the name
Their Alma Mater bears,
When they had left its classic halls
To shoulder worldly cares.
O winning maids and noble lords
Of dear old College days,
Come join in recollection fond,
And tell us of your ways.

In classroom and on gridiron, friends,
S. U. will stand the test;
Defeat to her a word unknown,
Her motto, "Do your best".
With vim, then let us give the yell,
Display her banner bright,
That all may know of old S. U.—
She stands for God and right.

Senior Class Prophecy

THE little village nestled on the bosom of a long, low, thickly wooded ridge. From the valley below to the village wound a much trodden path along which I made my way slowly, for it was eventide and weariness had taken hold on me because of the labors of the day. Daylight sped swiftly. The curtain of night was falling. With the exit of the sun the reign of the stars was ushered in.

Just before me, where the path turned sharply to the right, there lay a little cabin snuggled against the hillside. From its window there gleamed already a faint light. It was Springtime, glorious, beautiful Springtime, the time when the mind often turns to the springtime of life and in this season rejoices because of fond memories. From the chimney of the cabin curled a grey column of smoke, and as I looked steadfastly upon it, I saw formed indistinctly the letters, S. U. Dear old S. U.; My Alma Mater! Where now were my classmates, those whom I had learned to love, and with whom I had passed pleasant years? Led on by fancy, I rapped at the door and waited for the old lady who lived there to answer, for I had heard that she was one who had given herself over to the evil one in the practice of witchcraft. After a little I heard the snap of the latch, and as the door opened, there stood before me a haggard old woman, stooped and shriveled with age. Being invited to enter, I did so, and was seated in an old arm chair beside a crumbling fireplace. The old witch poked the embers of the fire and as she peered into the flame she seemed to be reading of the past there. Suddenly I asked, impulsively, "Tell me, if thou canst, of the members of the dear old class of '22 of Susquehanna."

After a prolonged silence, the aged woman, seating herself in a chair close to the fire, turned over a dying ember with a short rod and muttered in a low voice, "I see the—oh, yes—India, Guntur district—Beatrice Fisher, Superintendent of a large hospital. For twenty-five years she has been a medical missionary. She still retains the sweet smile of youth although the marks of age are upon her. The vision changes. In the office of a mining company there sets Thomas Raymer and "Larry" Baker, partners in the Baker and Raymer Mines Company. Mr. Raymer opens a letter and reads:—'Dear dad, I have had a mishap. While I was flying yesterday a Ford aeroplane badly ruined the right wing of my machine. Send check for $1500 as I need some money also for our college fraternity dances. Your busted son, Hitemhard. Mr. Baker's comment on the letter is that he is glad his are all girls."

The fire crackles. With a little shock, the witch blurts out:—"George Townsend is enjoying the pleasures of the world on the money made from the invention of a non-wrinkable, non-mussable full dress suit. He is happily married to the princess of Morocco. Wallace Wagner and Chester West are noted doctors located in Los Angeles where their practice comprises mainly the movie actresses. They are old in years but young in spirit. The Long sisters have risen in life, having married the Shorter brothers, and at present are living in beautiful houses on the shores of the Little Arkansas River."

The light in the cabin was getting dimmer and the fire was casting grotesque shadows on the darkened walls. I moved uneasily. I said, "Tell me of Bohler and Botdorf." The reply came, "They both entered the police force of New York City after leaving Susquehanna under the assumed names of "Pat" and "Mike" O'Mallery. They later became prominent in politics and are now living retired along the Hudson River. Miles Hoffman is the President of the New York-San Francisco Aerial Passenger Service, and Luther Fisher is ticket collector on the largest aeroplane, the twenty-four hour Limited. He would have risen much higher had he not pushed four Bolsheviks off the plane for not producing tickets."

The old witch rose from her chair and added more wood to the fire. After the fuel was in full blaze, she continued, "John Weikel and George Groninger are ministers in the largest churches in Chicago. Their sermons are sent by wireless to all sections of the States."

A wierd old clock on the mantel struck nine slow, hollow sounding taps. The sorceress stopped speaking. Handing her several dollars, I pleaded, "Tell me of the rest." She arose and produced from a shelf a little glass ball into which she gazed absently for a while. Then she continued, "Dewey Seaman is the leader of a famous Dixie Ragtime Band and travels all over the Southern States. "Sam" Sigler and "Doc" Ritter invented a trans-planet machine in which they started for Mars. They unfortunately fell near the South Pole where they were found six months later by an expedition at the head of which were Merle Beam and Lester Kaufmann. The App sisters are doing very efficient work with the missionaries in Africa. "Dave" Dagle disappeared for ten years, at the end of which time he was discovered sleeping peacefully in the basement of his church. The humiliating experience aroused him to action and he later gained great prominence as a minister. The rest did him good. Nora Goff and Verda Gearhart have married the twin sons of the President of Argentine Republic. Frank Mitchell is manager of the Chicago Cubs who have won three successive world championships. Lewis Pawling occupies the place in Pennsylvania politics that was formerly held by Boies Penrose.

There was another pause. There seemed to be a hesitation. I feared what was to be said next. Then she spoke, "Rickert was hired by friends of "Eddie" Dalby to trace "Eddie" after his disappearance. After a years search he was found living with riches in a Turkish court. He was in the company of his heart's desire. "Dave" Stuempfle is the head coach of the Princeton football team. He has won honor and fame for the All-American material that he has produced. Ruth Bastian is the wife of a very prominent medical missionary in China. She married a graduate of Susquehanna. Whalen Fenstermacher became the champion flyweight boxer of the world, after which he settled down in peace with Mabel. He has not had a scrape since. "Pete" Ehrenfeld has become the richest man of the class, being very influential in Wall Street. "Tommy" Atkinson graduated from Yale and afterwards preached in Boston. Harry Ramer was the Superintendent of the Scranton schools, but is now retired."

I awoke with a start. Before me was a fire place. I was in a cozy chair. It had all been a dream. From the top of the stairs came a voice, "Winey, come to bed now. It is very late, and don't forget to put the milk bottle out." I answered, "All right," and slowly proceeded to rest after my dream of the Class of '22.

Junior Class Poem

Three years ago you never did see
A gayer class of Freshies than we.
All care-free, young and confident.
To make good was our one intent.

As Sophs we were big, I guess,
Tho' in numbers we were very much less;
Green little Freshies had to bow and obey,
Our time had come, our revenge to pay.

With all exams safely passed,
Our courses chosen and dies cast,
As upperclassmen we returned
Dignified Juniors, honors well earned.

Classes all have up and downs,
But our good spirit has no bounds.
The successful alumnus inspires our deeds,
Onward and upward he always leads.

Just one more year before we
Can startle all humanity
With our knowledge unsurpassed,
As great geniuses to be classed.

"Eddie"

The Freshman Class in the fall of '19 found among its members a blue-eyed maiden who came to Susquehanna from Clarion County. She soon was quite popular among her classmates and took an active part in college activities.

We soon learned that she was not only interested in social activities but that she was an ardent student. She had expected to teach Latin, but during the Spring Term of her Sophomore year we noticed that she took a keen interest in the study of Agriculture, especially in the cereal crops, making the Foltz wheat a specialty.

Edna is rather serious-minded and must often be asked why she is frowning or why she looks so sober. Nevertheless she is interested in having a good time, if it does not conflict with her other duties.

She tells us that she intends to teach. We believe that she will be a good teacher but by the appearance of her hope chest we do not believe that she will continue in this profession for many years.

Our best wishes are with her whether in the schoolroom or the home.

"Well, isn't that fine."

"Risser"

Stella comes to us from Lancaster County up. She has that determined way that is characteristic of those dear old Pennsylvania Dutch. We go to her with questions requiring an expert grammarian's advice, for she taught school several years before she came to college.

Very seldom is she absent from classes for she fully realizes what she is in college for. She had determined before coming here that she would pursue the Classical Course. Since she has been here a couple of years we think she should have chosen a course in Mineralogy because of her interest in the study of Cole.

Her loyalty and faithfulness as a friend has been shown continually in the three years she has spent at Susquehanna. As a teacher we know she will be successful. The following is a verse composed by Stella and often quoted by her:

'I sat me down and thought profound,
This maxim wise I drew,
'Tis easier far to like a girl
Than make a girl like you.'

"Bill"

"Mitch"

Gaze long, gentle reader, at the accompanying phiz and behold the beaming countenance of one of the most quiet and dignified members of our class. To be sure, it is none other than our friend William who is always true blue and may be likened to an old war horse in that he is ever obedient and compliant to the commands of the faculty.

"Bill" is a good fellow in every sense of the word but there is something about him that distinguishes him from the rest of the common herd; he shuns the fairer sex and is never seen in company with them except on special occasions. He has yet to take his first lesson in "Campus" life. It has been said that ignorance is bliss which seems to suit "Bill's" case exactly.

"Bill" intends to study Theology and no doubt will take a particular delight in exerting a powerful influence upon his classmates while leading them along the straight and narrow path.

"Jack" "Fet"

It was in the fall of '20 that our class was fortunate in having the membership of "Jack". By what decree of Providence this young man was guided here we know not. Shortly after his affiliation with us he proved himself a worthy member of the class, by taking an active part in class activities, by always attending classes regularly, and by being prepared for recitations. He soon won many admirers about the school, especially those of the fairer sex.

As a student he is often called a second Pythagoras, due to his mathematical talent and attainments.

There are few that can excel him as a violinist, for last year he was a member of "Pat" Emerick's Syncopated Symphony Hot Dog Six.

From the disposition of the above portrait one cannot help but see his inclinations of love toward the fairer sex. However, "Jack's" attentions along this line are not confined to Seibert Hall alone, but are found elsewhere.

We predict a successful career for "Jack", and we are sure that some day he will reflect great honor to his Alma Mater and the Class of '23.

"M. T." (Empty)

Of all the members of our class, we are indeed proud of this one. After having been graduated from Sunbury High, Mary, then a bashful little girl, mustered up courage and came to Susquehanna.

She began her school work here in an earnest way and has never been known to regard duty lightly. She has not only been active in our class but also in the college organizations to which she belongs. Y. W. C. A. work at Susquehanna has profited by her efforts. Mary is kept quite busy, for, besides her Social Science schedule she also studies Elocution in which she has grown quite proficient.

Mary likes to read and we are inclined to believe that she would find even greater pleasure in it if there were more "Grants" to play important parts. She has been quite sensible, however, as we learned from her when she gave her reasons for wearing a "frat pin", namely, "for friendship's sake", "purely on a financial basis", and "just for fun". She is noted for her clever answers.

In whatever she may choose to do we wish her success.

"Hope to tell ya."

"Dot"

And the next picture in this book is that of Dorothy Margerum. If she were to be defined by one word, that might be sincerity, or perhaps faithfulness, or honor, or patience, or good humor, or jollity, or tact. But not one of these in itself is sufficient, so combine all, and you can express it in one little word of three letters, the sum total of all that is admirable in women—"Dot".

The cheerfulness and grit with which she enters undertakings makes her many school activities a source of happiness not only to her, but to all with whom she associates.

And does she believe in physical development? At any rate she loves tennis, and makes it lively for her opponents.

When Dorothy first came to school, she thought she would be a doctor. But now she has changed her mind and thinks she will be a teacher. Those who know her best will not be surprised, and in fact they will be disappointed, if she does not change it again and practice Home Economics.

"Jonny"

"Jonny", the youngest member of our class, hails from the town of Shamokin Dam along the banks of the beautiful Susquehanna River. He has a reputation among the fair sex, and it is very seldom that he arrives home Saturday night, but usually Sunday morning.

In Chemistry he is a regular shark, and is usually through with the laboratory work assigned before the rest of the class has really started.

He is a fellow fond of the great out-of-door life, for he has the ear of a fox and the eye of an eagle. The least possible noise in the woods is heard by him, which would be inaudible to the average person.

"Jonny" is still young and preparing to enter a Medical school, whence he will have the chance to mend some of the hearts that he has broken.

Whatever he undertakes we are sure that he will succeed because of his wonderful motto: Do not stop until thy destination is reached.

"Sim"

Another of the most renowned and well qualified men of the Junior Class is Freeman Wilhour, better known as "Sim". "Sim" hails from the burg of Shamokin Dam.

There are some peculiarities about "Sim" which are hard to understand. One is, that he is strongly opposed to woman's suffrage, or rather to women in general. Of course, there is an exception to all rules, and there is to this one. The exception includes only one, nevertheless, Freeman says that it cannot be helped. Well, what would you do under the circumstances?

We will also say that "Sim" is some baseball player. In fact he is a pitcher of great merit, having made the Varsity Squad in the spring of '21.

He is also a hunter and fisher. He enjoys duck and rabbit hunting as well as angling for black bass and pickerel.

But, do not think that this is all he knows and does. He is always one of the best qualified in his school work, especially in Zoology and Anatomy. Although he is only eighteen years of age he has already decided his vocation, and because his highest ambition always was to pull teeth, he has decided to become a dentist.

Well, good luck to "Sim" and we know he'll have it.

"Micky" "Russ"

Who comes here with that happy-go-lucky expression on his face? It is indeed our friend and classmate from Elysburg, a little hamlet which has long since passed into oblivion. Yes, "Russ" joined our class in '19 with the rest of the Freshmen, but he is not as green as he once was.

This noble young knight gaily yet timidly crossed the threshold of the portal leading into this temple of learning. Education then loomed before him as one of the pyramids of ancient Egypt, but he has determined to scale its heights however difficult may be the ascent. Our young "Lochinvar" is not particularly in love with his studies, but if anyone pays him a call he is always found at his desk wrestling with some difficult problem, or perchance "writing letters". Dear readers, you can easily guess the rest of the story. The art of writing letters has become a "Holden" novelty in his life. Music, however, seems to be his hobby for he is a member of the college band and orchestra. To be sure, he may some day be a Beethoven or Bach, who knows?

"Archie" "Socrates"

The above is a portrait of a devoted and sincere member of our class who hails from a farm near the town of Mifflinburg. He is one of those quiet, generous, and self-reliant individuals who is bubbling over with information and studies harder than did Plato or Aristotle.

It matters not when you come in the room, you are always sure to find "Archie" at the desk with a book, drinking from the fountain of knowledge contained therein. There is no doubt that he will become one of the most remarkable scholars and philosophers, not only of antiquity but of all time.

After all is said and done the fact remains that "Archie" is one whom every one can count as a friend, and those who know him best can say there are few better. He has by his winning disposition, true-heartedness and true-blue character won a warm place in our hearts. Those who do not know him miss knowing one of the best men of the Class of '23.

"Seth" "Sandy" "Pery"

This curly top which we have for consideration comes from the wilds of Middleburg. Due to his environment he has developed into a hunter of great fame. He is also a great hunter of the two-legged game. It was on one of these hunting trips that he emerged from the forest and came to Susquehanna. He decided that he had better try a year at this school and the longer he stayed the better he liked it, so we are glad that we can still count him as one of our number.

He is a great lover of nature and can be seen frequently chasing butterflies and insects. If he misses one of these he has some fine name to call the poor creature.

Peron is also musically inclined. In fact, he is so accomplished that he can compose and render his own music as he needs it. Very frequently you can hear him sing or whistle a song that is unknown to anyone else.

In his classes he is always ready to recite, no matter what the subject may be. He can always say something.

No matter what he may take as his life's work we know that success awaits him.

"Hank" "Herb" "Tom"

This handsome young chap hails from Middleburg. He entered the Freshman Class with this motto: "Success is accomplished by hard work." Hank is an active member of the class, upholding it especially in class athletics.

This chap believes in travelling, going home often over the week end, he says to work in his carpenter shop (?). He does not always go home but to places unknown to us. By this you can see that he is affiliated.

His greatest ambition is to raise a "musn't touch it." He can always be seen around the campus with something that looks like a shadow under his nose, which might develop into a full-grown mustache before he becomes an old man.

"Hank" is a fellow we all love. Among us he stands the true impersonation of honor, integrity, courtesy, faithfulness, and congeniality.

Whether in the future he will be known as "Hank" or "President Stetler" he will always be loved by his grateful classmates.

"Berries"

'Twas a cool September morn in '20 when there trod through this campus a short, stocky-built fellow, who with a nonchalant attitude, strode towards the Registrar's Office amid the gaze of our older students.

Harry, who soon after was given the name of "Berries", carried with him the reputation of being a good athlete at Bloomsburg Normal. Owing to this fact, he was requested to appear for football practice on our own gridiron. Later, it developed that "Berries" entered into athletics three-fold. Especially in football he is a wicked half-back. It is a well-established fact that "Berries" is no slouch when it comes to basketball. Every now and then the Irish comes up and he pulls off a mean toss into the cage. "Berries" admits that he does not like baseball as much as the two major sports heretofore mentioned, but occasionally takes great pleasure in determining just how far a man will run after the little round pill by knocking it over some railroad into some secluded spot.

Whatever he may take up in his career we extend to him our best wishes.

"Tom" "Gutter"

Nestled among the hills of Somerset County this "Ragtime" baby migrated to the far famed city of Johnstown where he associated with the aristocracy and was thus enabled to reach the University in which he is a student.

Among his deficiencies is a wrecking disease commonly known to his friends as "Evelynitis" which has been a terrible "Blight" upon him. At times this mania has affected him so violently while at school that he was forced to abandon his studies and hurry to Johnstown for recuperation.

"Tom's" favorite pastime is rattling the ivories, his favorite piece of late being "Oh, What a Pal Was Mary."

With all these outside interferences "Tom" manages to do a fair share of studying and hopes to be a Vanderlip or Rockefeller in the business world in days to come. "Tom" has a pleasing personality and if he puts forth the needed effort he will be a credit to himself and the University.

A man of this type, possessing the many qualities of a true character, should be able to gain a place of honor and respect in the community in which he becomes a member.

"Teddy" "Schmick"

Here it is. A sort of useless looking piece of machinery but mighty in noise and a staunch member of the "Prune Juggling Club". This modern Apollo formerly graced the campus of Lafayette College but that institution was not large enough for him and accordingly he came to Susquehanna so that he might expand to his fullest possibilities.

If you should be so unfortunate as to be stranded in his home town for any length of time and after hearing a great din of ear-splitting blasts, should inquire of the cause, you would be looked upon by the "Aborigines" of the village with contempt for when "Smith comes home from college" all work is laid aside and the world famous Sholola Concert Band turns out.

"Teddy" bewails the fact that all great men are dying to tell the truth; he says that he does not feel well himself. But he certainly is a good all-round sport and above all a real student. We know that this "Sulphuric Disciple" of Dr. Fisher has a future before him, which may cover a field of discovery anywhere from a new kind of Boarding House "Hash" to a doughnut without a hole.

"Nancy"

Sure, you guessed it. Certainly it comes from Somerset County. This great mass of humanity joined us in our Junior year and soon made himself evident by his attainment as a Vocal athlete. He is a man who always wants to know all the Whys and the Wherefores of everything before he can be convinced anything is true. He considers this a commendable quality because he says that it is an ear mark of a philosopher. One of his chief delights is hat-smashing. After old "Tarzan of the Apes" has indulged in one of these delights, his map takes on a broad grin, thinking, no doubt, of when his forefather used to crack cocoanuts in the jungle.

The expression, "An Empty Cart Maketh a Devilish Noise", is applicable in his case, for when it comes to raising a rumpus "Nancy" takes the fur-lined coal shovel.

Laying all jokes aside, his ever pleasant disposition has won for him a host of friends. Accordingly, we are very optimistic concerning his future and feel sure that he will find success in whatever he undertakes.

This is Violet, the butterfly of our class, the heart breaker of many a woman hater and neophyte. With her large blue eyes—roguish eyes—she maketh man fall hard. But she lets them lie, reserving her affections for some wild cowboy out in the middle west. In addition to her Irish eyes, Violet is blessed with an abundance of chestnut hair, daring lips and healthful rosy cheeks. Is it any wonder that "He" is considered lucky by so many sons of Susquehanna?

Violet is a good student, and after graduation she is going to specialize along political and economical lines. She always knows her lessons and enjoys exams as much as a vaudeville. She is also studying Elocution and Music and plays both the piano and violin.

Violet has many ideals which she is living up to. She is sincere in all her friendships and adopts the Golden Rule as her motto. She is always light-hearted for we often hear her merry laugh on the campus, in the hallways and even in the classroom. We predict for her a brilliant future and we know—come what may—she will always be the bright, good-natured Violet that she is now.

Honk-k-k! Out of the way, you students. Here comes Groce in that big "Lemon Sine" of his and talk about speed, he sure is fast, fifty miles per? Oh, no that is not the point at all—we mean "it" not "he".

Marvin has that enviable combination of curls and dimples and many are the maidens who have gazed in ardent worship at the "handsome man of Susquehanna". Just why he had his picture taken with his curls combed back we cannot tell—but his dimples are there all right.

"Grocey" is a distinguished musician, rivaling Kreisler on the violin, and when it comes to vocalizing—the larks aren't in it. He is one of the Glee Club favorites and "makes a hit" in every town visited.

In the classroom Marvin is always attentive, well prepared, and able to recite. He is especially fond of Chemistry and may some day be one of America's foremost Chemical Engineers. Taken in general, Marvin is studious, democratic, a good sport, and a cultured man. Here's to his future success and happiness—and good luck!

She is little in size, but when she gets started she is a great force which is hard to stop. This little lady has already distinguished herself in the classroom. Her favorite delight is roaming about the country collecting specimens, and spending the rest of the time classifying them.

She makes her weekly visits to Sunbury of which we are kept in doubt. But we are inclined to believe that she is not more interested in searching for the "horney bee" than for human specimens.

To "Bee" we predict a very bright future. After graduation she will enter a Medical School in which she will attain marked success. We are confident that she will be an honor to the Class of '23 and to her Alma Mater.

"Sam"

Do you recognize her. Of course you do. She is always the same studious, rather serious, as it would seem to those who do not know her, but nevertheless fun-loving and happy Alice. Happy at heart to judge from her singing attitude for she always entertains the girls at the dorm just after the light is out (10:30) with selections from Galli-Curci (?) And Alice does enjoy playing little jokes on the girls, such as—oh well—if you want to know, ask some of her close neighbors at the dorm. Always so willing to help her friends in any way she might; so willing to call the girls in the morning at five o'clock; but five never comes to Alice, the earliest is eight. Fond of talk? No, I can't say fond of it, but she frequently becomes so engrossed in the theme of her conversation that she forgets herself and rolls off into such a rapid transpiring of events, facts, and emotions that it is impossible for us of slower determination and understanding to follow.

Nevertheless, we are proud to own this one as a classmate and shall take leave wishing her success in her life's work.

"Pop"

Three years ago there drifted into our midst a wild looking character from Center County, Pennsylvania. When this individual was asked what name he bore, he replied, "I am J-a-w-n C-o-l-e". For a short time he was called John, but soon the name "Pop" was substituted. He is now known as "Pop" by all with the exception of one of the fair co-eds who still persists in calling him the name his mother gave him. "Pop", early in his college career, fell a victim to Seibert Hallitis. Aside from that he is sane enough. One has but to take one look at that noble face and he is assured that he is indeed gazing at a noble character. His chief sin is lying in bed after breakfast. "Pop" is a good student; he has to be for he is a name sake of one of the professors.

Take him all for all; he is a man. We are sure that success will take up her abode with him. Like all great men he is slow and deliberate in his speech. The wishes for a brilliant future are the wishes of his classmates for him.

"Doc" finds great pleasure in relating army experiences for he has seen action in six engagements, five of which were in battles over there, and the other one with one of the inhabitants of Seibert Hall of Susquehanna.

"Looie" has won for himself the reputation of an orator. In the wee hours of the night his favorite subject is his experience with ghosts in the army. This orator of Susquehanna is unexcelled, even Cicero is not in his class.

He has been quite active in class and College activities. As a business man he has shown remarkable ability in managing the Sophomore Calender and the Lanthorn.

Last, but not least, Lewis is a man from head to foot. In all his undertakings he has never failed. Here's to "Looie", a man among men, and the Class of '23 wishes him the best of success in his future life

Finding teaching more profitable than being taught, "Bing" entered the ranks of school teachers and served for four years. Then in the fall of '21, deciding to secure more education for his own part, he invaded the classrooms of Susquehanna.

Profiting from his years of teaching "Bing" is always ready and willing to recite and has never been known to indulge in the national pastime of "sleeping during classes".

"Bing" is a likeable chap although he does not flaunt his love affairs before the eyes of the other boys. But he travels daily to and from his home in the company of "The Only One" upon the "Lewistown Local" and if we could be there we would find that the time is spent profitably.

"Bing" is a hard worker and realizes for what purpose he is attending Susquehanna. We predict a great future for him in whatever line of work he participates.

The man who makes a success in life is ambitious. Of such a nature is Ray Laudenslager. "Babe" was not with us last year on account of his trip westward. He is anxious to travel and gain the experience which is only obtained in this manner. Enjoying his trip and the experience it afforded, fortunately his mind was developing upon power, position, reputation, honor, which are all within the grasp of the diligent student. This being his thought, he decided to cease his travel and come back to dear old Susquehanna and pursue further his college studies.

We are glad, then, to see him among the many faces at school and still more delighted to hail him as a Junior.

"Babe" is fond of all sports. He took an active part in class basketball during his Sophomore year.

He is very seldom seen upon the campus, but this has not denied him the companionship of the fair sex. We are safe in saying that he has had his "Fair" share.

We bespeak for "Babe" a great future. Law cases involve subject matter of the greatest variety; and the lawyer can scarcely cover too great a course in his preparations. We hope to see him some day, occupying the highest position possible to anyone in the vocation he has in view—that of law. We wish you well.

Such is the case with "Josie" as she calls him. Now that brings to light another question. Does he really spend the week end under the parental roof?

Our friend Joseph was also a member of the American Expeditionary Forces and served eighteen months overseas. He served in the Medical Corps. He braved the battle of many a nauseating operation in the base hospitals.

No one will ever know the reason why, yet, it so happened when we were Freshmen, our friend "Joe" was one of us. In his life at school "Joe" has always proven himself an asset to the class. Who was it that went out on the gridiron for two years in order to make football at Susquehanna a success? Who was it that held down the First Tenor in the Glee Club for two years? Who was it that holds in view a righteous purpose for future life? Why "Joe" of course.

Attention! We have before us one who stands pre-eminent in the hearts of all of the Class of '23. What a cheerful disposed classmate he has been; what a capable, efficient student, always equal to any situation, he has shown himself to be. His good work always manifests itself wherever he goes. His service as Editor-in-Chief of this Lanthorn cannot be overestimated.

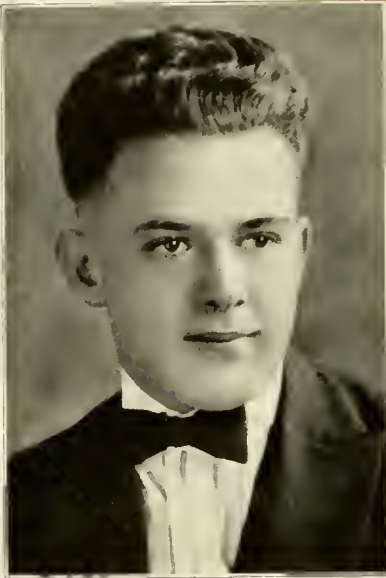

Even though this young man is so interested in his work, yet he has a little time for the study of Love. He likes to wait on the day student table as "she" seems so cordial to him. We predict that the street car line between Selins Grove and Sunbury will soon have him as a regular weekly patronizer. Daily communications are already necessary and it looks serious.

Lynne is one of "Pappy" Horton's "Hash Slingers", having waited on tables for three years. His family relations in the kitchen are many, including sisters, aunts, and a mother. These, of course, are all adopted.

This dignified looking specimen of humanity came to us from the wilds of Herndon. As a student body we can feel assured that the environment, both from the proxy and the instructors, has manifested a new career to the young man. We look for big things from our classmate.

"Budd", being somewhat dignified and quiet in his manner, makes quite a splash among the fair sex. We can't explain it but someone has said that still water runs deep. "Bob" is a great believer in following the precedents set by others. Thus, he has always emulated the examples set by his fore-runner, the elder Bobb who left our midst last spring. By this we mean that he studies until nine o'clock and then quietly slips on and does not return until the wee small hours of the morning.

As a member of the Gymnasium Team last year, "Budd" showed us that his physical make-up was not intended for beauty alone but also to meet the requirements of a gridiron prospect.

Although he is small in stature he gives promise of being a great man in the future and we wish him success in whatever he pursues as his life's work.

Ah! here it is so tall in stature and so small in brain capacity. As he approaches we have a clearer view of him. He has a firm set jaw which denotes determination and bright eyes that give him away as a jolly good companion.

He has entered Susquehanna University for the purpose of "collecting knowledge", but as his brain capacity is small, it takes some time for said knowledge to become embedded in its proper place. He took his place among us in his Sophomore year, taking a course which will not only prepare him for his life's work but also for entering a Medical College.

We predict his career as a physician as a howling success, for when he will take the pulse of a fair one, she will forever be his patient. His speciality will be to relieve his patients of the burdensome job of taking care of money, for he has taken up the study of how to accumulate and take care of vast sums of money.

Behold! The founder of the Syncopated Symphony Hot Dog Six of Susquehanna—more handy with the drum sticks than with the knife and fork. With every beat of the drum sticks, the "sensation produces a bodily movement". He has also gained fame on the diamond at Susquehanna, being the mainstay of our pitching staff for the past two seasons. He has also received enticing offers from professional clubs for his services.

"Pat's" ability is not all confined to musical and athletic lines, as he has developed a system of his own by which he winneth the hearts of the fairer sex—preferably the yearlings of the blonde species. His exploitations and afflictions are not confined to Selins Grove, Sunbury and vicinity, but ever anon his heart wandereth to the metropolis of our country—New York City.

All things being equal, for a man of such accomplished talents there awaits a place of honor among the genius of the age.

Sophomore Class History

THE flight of Time moves swiftly on. We are one year nearer our longed-for destination. We have advanced one step on the ladder of learning. Again we will record on the pages of Time the progress of '24.

Some of our number of last year have not returned but new ones have come to take their places and now we stand increased in number and spirit, vying with each other in loyalty to the Orange and Maroon.

In the fall of 1921 we assembled the first midnight as Sophomores in order to do our duty by the incoming class of Freshmen. The next morning found the campus bearing a becoming covering of white posters. These posters described very ably to all just what the Freshmen were bound to do.

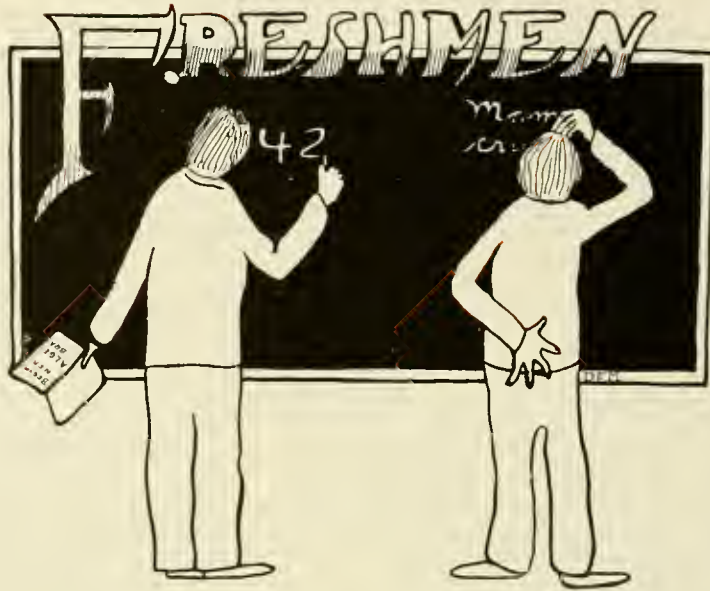

The annual tie-up, according to the ruling by the upper-classmen, was held on Warner Field the second Thursday after the Semester opened. Although we were outnumbered two to one, we entered the fray with grim determination to win. After ten minutes of courageous struggle we were defeated 6-0.

Some weeks later on a beautiful October night the Sophomore Class had a marshmallow and weiner toast. The Freshmen seemed to think that we should not go, but, instead of succeeding in preventing us from going, they only gave us a more earnest determination to go and have a good time. There, along the east bank of Penn's Creek, we built a fire and toasted the delicious "doggies" and marshmallows.

As has been the custom of the classes that have preceded us, we too published a Calendar and we are glad to report that it has been a success.

We are all proud of our class and take a hearty interest in each other's welfare. It is our desire to succeed and make a history as no class that ever left these classic halls has made. If we live up to our motto, "Work Wins Everything", our desires will be attained.

Freshman Class History

THE Class of '25 is like an elevator. It has already seen many "ups and downs". Of course we were knocked down by the Sophomores but we just jumped up again and went smilingly on our way—ever upward. We learned better than to mind the reproachful looks and ridicule of the upper-classmen and went to work showing them what a jolly bunch we were.

Soon after we had entered the gates of old Susquehanna we met as a class and chose our leaders. Of course we had to be prepared for that annual event—the Sophomore-Freshmen tie-up. So we spent several evenings in selecting and practicing our class yells. And did you ever see such a tie-up as ours?

After careful planning, one night in October we triumphantly rode past the college when the Sophomores were eating their evening meal. And did you ever hear of such a wonderful Wiener Roast? Never before was there such cheering and singing, never before had any one of us had a better time. We shall not forget that night even if it did rain until we were drenched.

Again we showed our pep at mass meetings and at the games. Always on the spot, ready to lend a willing hand to the teams and to cheer our players on. Always on the job, always ready to help, always full of pep and boosting someone on—that's the Class of '25.

Religious

DURING the past year the religious spirit of Susquehanna University has increased greatly. This spirit is not only manifest in the activities of the religious organizations, but in every day life and customs as well.

The Y. M. C. A. of our college has made its presence felt during the past year, perhaps more than at any time here-to-fore. A fall reception for new students was held at the opening of the college year at which time was taken up the discussion of the association problems, what the Y. M. C. A. stands for and what it is striving to do. Through the efforts of this organization the students of Susquehanna as well as the town's people are privileged to enjoy the very well selected numbers of a lyceum course. Some of the members of the faculty as well as a number of other eminent men kindly responded to a call and came out to give us a talk on some of the problems that confront young people, endeavoring to lay a foundation for future usefulness. The thoughts left us by these men of experience and wisdom cannot help but bear fruit, and the association feels grateful for the kindly interest of these men.

The Y. W. C. A. has proven itself true and loyal to the purpose of the national organization. Each year it is growing broader in its attentions and activities, and this year has made great advances. Among other things, it has supported the Student Friendship Fund and the Lutheran Commission. The association was greatly aided and reinspired by the visit of a national secretary, Miss Richards, who gave several very fine talks and also individual information and help to the girls.

A newly organized association this year is the World Fellowship Club which is wide awake and doing. Its members are not only helping to promote the religious spirit that permeates the college atmosphere but it also has its eyes turned toward the foreign fields. Several very interesting and capable men addressed the club, among whom were Dr. Curran, a missionary from Africa; Dr. Focht, who gave an interesting sketch of the life of Dr. Day, his personal friend and college chum; and Mr. Uyeda, a Japanese student of Susquehanna who gave a talk on the missionary life in Japan. The members are making a special study of the social conditions of the foreign fields and are supporting a child in Africa. As a direct result of the influence of the organization and its speakers, several persons from Susquehanna have selected as their life work the foreign field of missions.

In the midst of our work we sometimes suddenly find the path hard and difficult; problems which we think we cannot meet, confront us. We become discouraged and think we are making no progress. But if we press onward there will be a day when we can look back and see the good results of our labors. There are always problems before us, and there always will be problems while there is achievement. May we not hasten to reach the highest goal by doing our part as a Christian institution towards the solving of the problems involved in the onward march of education.

Literary

MAN may be a marvel in science, a wizard in mathematics, a wonder at searching out the hidden meanings of the ancient customs and languages, but he still may not be educated. Education, to be fully realized, should combine more than a knowledge of science or mathematics or language. It should fit a man for the expression of the thoughts hidden in these. It should train a man to be able to fit himself for the environment in which he lives today, the world of responsibility to his fellow beings. Only through the expression of his thoughts can he do this. Only through the cultivation of his oral powers can he express his thoughts in a convincing manner. This is the watchword of literary work at Susquehanna.

The Clonian and Philosophian Literary Societies have been setting a standard in the years of their existence, to which if all attain, it means the full realization of a true education. It means the acquisition of those powers that are necessary for the expression of his best and most precious thoughts and purposes. The literary work has in the past received the best cooperation of the students. The students realize this need and are desirous to cultivate new powers for the full realization of all that is near and dear to them, their desire for service to mankind. Whether it be in the expression of one's self as a teacher, lecturer, preacher, lawyer, or in any vocation, even to the humblest, there is need for this expression of man to his fellow man.

Besides the Literary Societies at Susquehanna there has been formed in the past year a debating club for the upperclassmen of the University. The great need for such an organization is readily seen. Although such work is provided for in the under classes, still, there is nothing better than continued development in these lines. It is all well enough to be able to have views but to be able to express them in a convincing manner, to be able to refute all arguments against your stand on a question, and to put life into your arguments, that is the real climax of debating.

The system of orations is still another stage in the development of the student. The Junior Oratorical Contest is one of the best and most beneficial institutions of the school. The interest aroused in the competition for honors is excellent. This is the test of man's ability to paint his thoughts, as it were, on the minds of his listeners. A man may be able to express ideas that are abstract and general, but the ability to present concrete and special ideas and thoughts that will have an impress on the mind of the hearer is the much sought-for goal in the literary world.

Journal

THE department of publicity of any institution is the corner stone to its greater prosperity. Susquehanna is rising in this world of publicity. Although, in the beginning, as an institution of learning, it was very small in comparison with the surrounding universities, in the present, it stands forth as a shining light in the sea of darkness.

One of the greatest instruments of this publicity is our Press Club. The duties of the Press Club seem to have been limited to the publicity of the athletic department of the institution in the past. On some rare occasions special reports have been sent to the daily newspapers. Although, with this limited publicity, we have been looked up to as a progressing school in the athletic line, we can see in the near future the greater duty of the Press Club in spreading more widely information regarding progress in other departments of the institution.

Limiting ourselves to local publications, we are next interested in our college weekly. This paper always has been a reflection of great credit to the student body. Of it we may be justly proud. The "Susquehanna" has in the past year been increased from a four page weekly to six pages. The paper is an excellent collection of local events and Alumni Notes and Exchange Notes which bring the student and the alumnus and the other collegians into closer and keener relationship with one another. "Boost Susquehanna" is the by-word of the staff in its publication. This is the only publication in which every individual student can feel that he has a part in its success as it is a paper of the students, for the students, and by the students.

The lasting memoir of college days is found in the annual publication, "The Lanthorn", which is published by the members of the Junior Class. Although this publication means a greater responsibility and is usually the result of much tedious labor, nevertheless, it is an honor well earned for the class to successfully manage the publication of an excellent annual.

It has been the generally accepted custom of the Sophomore Class to publish a Calender for the collegiate year. This publication has been a great success in the past years, this year's publication exceeding all others in excellence.

There is a proposed publication in view which shall be in the form of a college guide-book. This will contain an account of the history, development, and character of all organizations on the campus. These will be published by the Senior Class for distribution among the new students in order that they may have a broader glimpse of our college activities.

Conservatory of Music

"By music, minds an equal temper know,
Nor swell too high, nor sink too low,
If in the breast tumultuous joys arise,
Music her soft, persuasive voice applies,
Or, when the soul is press'd with cares,
Exalts her in enlivening airs."

Thus MUSIC to the world a purpose serves and those who would follow its call, should realize its right to serious consideration in their daily preparation.

SUSQUEHANNA UNIVERSITY CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC is striving to lay that proper foundation for Service in the preparation of students intrusted to her care. The daily routine of the music student's life is similar to that of other departments, consisting of periods of preparation, recitation, and relaxation. In the music student's daily program the periods of preparation are known by that household word—Practice! yes, Practice! and again, Practice! Painful though the operation may be to the student and to those around him, the fact remains, as a musician once said—"If I fail to practice for one day I, myself, know it; if for two days, my friends know it; if for three days, the public knows it." Real musical development is the outcome of years of careful study.

The Conservatory of Music offers opportunity for individual study in pianoforte, voice, organ, violin, viola and 'cello. Training in ensemble work is furnished in the Ladies' Choral Club, the Men's Glee Club, the Orchestra, the Band, and Oratorio Society.

Science

USQUEHANNA began years ago as an institution wholly classical in character. As the years rolled by the necessity for a department in science became evident. Today, the early leader of that department, Dr. George E. Fisher, is still giving his best talents to the development of that department. For many years he was in complete control of the instruction of the sciences, which was no little burden. But ever faithfully he bore it, until today he has been able to heave a sigh of relief and to pass part of his burden to another competent instructor, Dr. H. A. Surface. Under the direction of these two eminent professors the science department has been rapidly progressing in the past years.

It was through the efforts of these two men that the Natural Science Club was organized. They conceived the possibility of all students receiving some general knowledge of science by bringing them into contact with it through a club whose purpose it was to develop interest by presenting scientific facts and theories in such a way as to draw the classical student into the realization of the greatness of the field. Through the efforts of its members these things have been realized. Many eminent men have been procured to lecture to the Club on things of interest to all students. The Club does not confine itself to any particular science but is active in all the natural sciences. Men of high standing in the fields of science have been procured from time to time to lecture on the subjects of Forestry, Physiology, Chemistry, Travel, Invention, etc. The students are very active in taking part and already many have given illustrated lectures on their travels to different parts of the world or have given demonstrations on many interesting things.

This is the only organization of its kind on the campus that gives the classical student an opportunity to broaden in fields outside of his regular work. The many scientific facts and truths that have been already learned from these meetings will many times aid one out of difficulties which arise from the fact of being unable to answer some simple question concerning a scientific phenomenon.

Through the efforts of the Club a camera has been bought with which pictures of the university buildings and scenes about the school will be taken and developed into slides which can be used on a stereopticon machine. These can be accessible to any student to use in his or her own vicinity at home in order to arouse more interest in that community for the support of the institution. This will be a great advertisement of the college and will greatly appeal to the student who contemplates going away to school the following year.

In the extended efforts of the Science Club we see great results. A better regulated museum is their next goal. This has been a sadly neglected thing in the past. Perhaps through their efforts in having a better museum many things of historical importance will be presented to this institution for care. With the spirit that is shown we can feel sure that success will result.

Athletic

BESIDES the regular athletic teams, both of the college in general and of the representative classes, there are few athletic organizations. The oldest athletic organization is the "S" Club which is composed of those members of the college athletic teams that have won their letters. The purpose of this organization is to have the best quality of athletics at Susquehanna as is possible. Being composed of the individuals who are the nucleus of our athletic teams, naturally they are most interested in the kind of athletics that they must take part in. The noblest thing that the Varsity "S" Club has done in the past is the aid that they have rendered to the Athletic Association in lending their services for the purpose of raising money to cover deficits in that organization. They have done this by rendering programs to the public such as minstrel shows. Entrance into this Club means a big thing to the athlete because it means he has fought for the Orange and Maroon on her fields of battle in some sport and has won his laurels.

The other organization is that of the Cheer Leaders. The Cheer Leaders are elected from each class. They are trained to lead the cheers and songs of the school in such a way that enthusiasm never fails to be present. The past year showed a great advance in this line. No better mass meetings were ever held. Praise must be given to Mr. Clair James for his enthusiasm and leadership in the past seasons. Through his efforts the seasons have been made greater successes due to the better regulated cheering.

ATHLETICS

Athletics

ATHLETICS at Susquehanna have at last come out of their lethargy and are leaping forward swiftly. Greater progress was never known to be made. But we must see who was instrumental in the awakening. Prof. Luther Grossman, our new Director of Physical Education and also an Alumnus of Susquehanna, has the greatest responsibility in this awakening and to him we must give the most praise. He came to Susquehanna with the purpose of cleaning up. There will be no more impartiality shown in the department of athletics.

Prof. Grossman has his whole heart and soul in the work of developing the human body into an active, useful thing. He believes that every student at Susquehanna should be actively engaged in all sports at all times. He hates a lazy, sluggish body and will in every way try to eliminate such a thing from Susquehanna. He has organized the Freshman and Sophomore classes in the sports of hockey and soccer. During the fall the athletic field was a scene of continual activity. Even after the snow was lying on the ground the classes went out and competed in soccer.

In the winter he organized Gymnasium classes for all students. He expects to develop every student into a basketball player. He believes that all players in all sports should be Susquehanna men and women. He believes that all such material can be developed here if everybody is given a chance. In many of the sports there has been no incentive for a regular student to go out and try to make a position on a varsity team as he knew he would be crowded out by a man who was brought in from the outside.

Throughout all the year every student will have the chance to be engaged in some sort of a sport. No more will the Gymnasium be confined to a few upperclassmen who by their assumed authority keep out the newer students. Scheduled periods will be arranged for the use of the athletic field, the Gymnasium, and the tennis courts. Activity in athletics will be the watchword of the institution in the future.

Yet we cannot pass the excellent work of our Coach, Mr. George Stahl, who has directed our athletic teams in the past two years. He certainly has raised the estimation of our teams in the eyes of all larger institutions. From the invitations that the managers have received from larger teams we can see the progress we have made in the major sports. Although in the last year we were rather unsuccessful, on account of the crippled condition of our team, we played on with the real fighting spirit and won the admiration of all our opponents.

The season for the next year has a brighter outlook in the new system of management that will be effected. We have received on our schedules some of our old-time opponents who have also risen into the limelight in the football world. "Better Athletics" is the goal of the managers and students.

Results of 1921

Lehigh University 22

Susquehanna 0

Susquehanna's gridiron squad made their initiatory appearance against Lehigh University at South Bethlehem, Pa. on October 1. No apology needs to be made for the score as our team was outweighed both in line and backfield by our opponents. The ranks of the squad were well nigh depleted of letter men. The inexperience of the new material made the game somewhat slow. Nevertheless, our warriors fought bravely for their colors. One of the new backfield men, Christian, was injured during the game and has been forced to retire from the gridiron for the season.

Mt. St. Mary's College 0

Susquehanna 0

In this fray considerable improvement was shown by the defenders of the Orange and Maroon. The outcome of the game was very dubious during the entire period. The breaks of the game were about evenly divided. Although our opponents were endangering our goal very often, nevertheless our men displayed some very fine defensive work. Our new backfield made an excellent showing, gaining very much ground on the offense. The game was very exciting, keeping the enthusiasm of the spectators at a high pitch. When the final whistle blew the ball was in the possession of the Orange and Maroon in the middle of the field.

Colgate University 21

Susquehanna 6

The annual game with Colgate was played on Whitehall Field at Hamilton, N. Y. on October 15. Although the score may not appear very encouraging, yet credit must be given to the Orange and Maroon warriors for holding their superior opponents to such a score. It is rather hard to decide who should receive honorable mention, owing to the fact that each and every man did his very best. Buehler, a new backfield man, received an injury which compelled him to remain out of uniform for the rest of the season. The boys showed even greater determination and grit than they did last year when they held Colgate to a scoreless tie.

Gallaudet University	0

Coach Stahl's porteges met and defeated the Gallaudet eleven on Warner Field on October 22. The lighter visitors were unable to withstand the attacks of the Orange and Maroon warriors. They continually wavered before the strong onrushes of our men, lacking effective team work on the defensive. Their lighter backs could make no impression on the lines of our men. Through their aerial attacks in the second quarter they threatened the Susquehanna goal. With this exception the game was played in their sector. In this game, Rogowicz, a last year's line man, had the opportunity to show his backfield ability, scoring one touchdown.

West Point Military Academy ..	53
Susquehanna	0

For the first time in the history of the school, Susquehanna met the Army eleven at West Point. Meeting a foe entirely out of our class, it was evident from the beginning that Coach Stahl's warriors could not cope with the Army's stiff defense nor impede the opponents driving attacks. During the first quarter the Army warriors were baffled by Susquehanna's trick plays and even had their goal endangered when Sweeney, half-back, made a forty yard end run and carried the ball to the twelve yard line. During the remainder of the game the Army literally plowed through our lines and scored their touchdowns, badly crippling our team.

Thiel College	12
Susquehanna	0

Susquehanna made her first trip to the western part of the state where she met and was defeated by Thiel College. The defeat was due to the under-estimation of Thiel's team by our men and to incompetent officials. Although our men were in very poor condition after withstanding the onslaughts of the Army aggregation, nevertheless they made a very creditable showing and received the praise of the opposing team.

Albright College	21
Susquehanna	6

The honors of this game fell to the Albright Collegians. However, the game was not as one-sided as was anticipated. The teams were fairly well matched, but, due to the physical condition of our men, a very poor defense was shown by our team. With Captain Sweeney and several of the best offensive and defensive men out of the game, our team was incapacitated. Thomas, one of our new backs, carried the ball across the line for our only touchdown in the first quarter. The touchdown by Susquehanna was the first of the game. During the remainder of the game Albright seemed to carry away the honors by three successive touchdowns.

Bucknell University	61
Susquehanna	7

In this game the fighting spirit of the Susquehanna Collegians showed its excellence. In this defeat there was victory, for our team that met the Bucknell aggregation, was composed almost entirely of second string men. The services of six of the regulars was denied on account of injuries sustained from the previous games. The team, although outweighed and outclassed, played consistently throughout the entire game. The recovered fumble and eighty yard dash for a touchdown by Gaffney, end, was one of the outstanding features of the game. In the second half Bucknell's second team was placed on the field, but the onslaughts of the "pony backfield" were frustrated by our warriors, so that it was soon necessary to replace the first line men for the remainder of the game.

Lebanon Valley College	0
Susquehanna	2

On "Turkey Day" Susquehanna journeyed to Sunbury where they played the Lebanon Valley eleven on the Meredith Field. Both teams tried their utmost to push the ball across each other's line but the defense showed by both teams was too great. The lone score was made by Susquehanna when one of the Collegians was pushed back of his own line by Baker and Stuenpfle. Despite of the fact that the game was staged in a sea of mud, it was exciting and interesting throughout the entire period. The most spectacular play of the game was when Susquehanna held Lebanon Valley for downs on the one foot line. Susquehanna closed its season by the victory in this very creditable game.

Results of Reserves—Season of 1921

Jersey Shore High 28
Susquehanna Reserves 0

The Reserves must be given great credit for their assistance in the development of a varsity. Due to the fact that little scrimmage was had this season, neither team had very much experience before their first games. The scrubs were defeated by the Jersey Shore lads in their first game. The team work was poor, greatly due to the fact of inexperience.

Sunbury Y. M. C. A. 0
Susquehanna Reserves 0

Profiting by the experience of a few scrimmages the Reserves were able to make a more creditable showing in their second game with the Sunbury lads. During the first half the ball was always in the Sunbury sector, our backs having succeeded in pushing through their lines continually. In the second half the up-river lads came back strong with an aerial attack, but the game ended in a scoreless tie.

Dickinson Seminary 49
Susquehanna Reserves 0

Absolutely outweighed and outclassed, the Susquehanna Reserves went down in defeat before the driving onslaughts of the Dickinson Seminary lads. Lack of team work and poor defense were the causes of the defeat. Poor tackling was a point against the Reserves. No impression could be made whatever against the heavier line of the Seminarians by our backs.

Northumberland High 0
Susquehanna Reserves 0

Again the Susquehanna Reserves sallied forth to meet a team of up-river lads. On Armistice Day, in a drizzle of rain and on a slippery field, our lads met the "Norry" High lads and held them to a scoreless tie. Our line and backs were somewhat heavier than those of the High School, but no great gains could be made. With two yards to go and the first down, Susquehanna was sent to the bench scoreless at the end of the first half on account of the ending of the quarter. During the second half the field became slipperier and no progress could be made whatever by either team.

Haverford College	24
Susquehanna	21

The Susquehanna quintet opened its basketball season by playing Haverford College at Haverford. The teams were well matched. The score at the end of the first half was 11-8 with Haverford in the lead. In the second half both teams scored thirteen points. Each team had an equal number of field goals, Haverford being three foul goals in the lead when the final whistle blew. The Susquehanna five made a very creditable showing in this initiatory game.

Lafayette College	36
Susquehanna	16

Susquehanna lost the second game of the season when she was defeated by the Lafayette five at Easton. The game was well played and despite of the size of the score the Orange and Maroon quintet played excellent basketball throughout the entire game. The first half was by far the closest. Susquehanna jumped into the lead at the outstart of the game, but the field goals of the opponents soon put them in the lead, which they increased as the game progressed.

State Forest	20
Susquehanna	52

The first home game of the season was played against State Forest Academy and it exhibited much more form than was expected at this part of the season. As the score indicates, the visitors were completely outclassed in every part of the game. The visitors were unable to penetrate our defense and at all times were forced to resort to long shooting.

Juniata College	34
Susquehanna	25

The Orange and Maroon five met defeat at the hands of the fast Juniata five on the latter's floor at Huntingdon. During the first few minutes of the game Juniata jumped into the lead, but Susquehanna came back and cut the opponents lead to 18-21 at the end of the first half. Juniata excelled in passing. The short, snappy passes proved too difficult a proposition for the locals to break up.

The second game of the season that was played at home was lost to the snappy Lebanon Valley quintet by the margin of five points. The team lacked the services of Bannion on account of injuries and "Rogie" was compelled to leave the game after seven minutes playing because there were four personals charged against him by the referee. Briggs, who took "Rogie's" place, was injured and forced to retire, being replaced by Thomas. In spite of these misfortunes the team put up a magnificent fight and their spirit was an inspiration to the student body which kept cheering to the end.

Franklin and Marshall College	49
Susquehanna	32

Susquehanna's Varsity met defeat at the hands of the Franklin and Marshall five at Lancaster before a large and enthusiastic crowd of spectators who found that all the noise or encouragement that they could give was necessary to their team to down the plucky Orange and Maroon. The teams were almost evenly matched. Neither team during the first half could seem to gain any material advantage over the other. Franklin and Marshall completely outclassed Susquehanna in the art of making free tosses count, being credited with a possible seventeen out of twenty-three, while Susquehanna was credited with fourteen out of thirty-two. And this was also a big factor in the defeat of the Orange and Maroon.

U. of P. Jr. Varsity	28
Susquehanna	16

The Orange and Maroon cagemen met the well-known and highly reputed Junior Varsity of the University of Pennsylvania in the Alumni Gymnasium. Shortly after the game was started it was apparent that it was going to be a battle royal. Penn drew first blood with a field goal. Then for several minutes the game waxed hot and furious, neither team scoring from the field. Penn, through the consistent foul shooting of Shaffer, soon assumed a good lead and at the end of the first half were far in the lead by the score of 14-5. In the second half Susquehanna came back with a vengeance, and as Penn fouled considerably, and Sweeney pocketed most of them, the score gradually rose. The fight that the locals put up in the face of almost certain defeat was sufficient to make almost every Susquehanna backer proud.

Coach Stahl's proteges journeyed to Myerstown and met defeat at the hands of the fast Albright quintet. The game started off in good fashion and it looked as if the local tossers would have a hard nut to crack, but after gaining a lead, Albright had no trouble in keeping it. Albright exhibited some excellent work in passing. In the effort to stop the onslaughts of the Cherry and White many substitutions were made. In the last part of the game an entirely new team was substituted for Albright whose work was as good as the first.

Lebanon Valley College	34
Susquehanna	23

The fast Annville Collegians again put one over on the Orange and Maroon aggregation. On the tail end of a two day trip, our defenders were unable to work together and as a result lost the game to the Lebanon Valley five. Susquehanna assumed the lead from the start, then the Blue and White staged a rally and after the smoke of battle had lifted from the first half it found them on the long end of a 22 to 13 score. During the second half the Lebanon Valley lads ran away from the Orange and Maroon five, who did not seem to be able to hold them in any way.

Gettysburg College	5

The Susquehanna nine opened their season with a battle royal with Gettysburg on the Warner Field on April 8. The game lasted for twelve innings, after which the game was called on account of the darkness. The last four innings were mainly a pitchers battle, neither team being able to hit when a hit would have meant the game. Weaver pitched remarkable ball for Susquehanna, having nineteen strikeouts during the course of the game while Plowman had twelve for Gettysburg.

Gettysburg College	6
Susquehanna	5

The first game of the season to be played in a foreign field was with the Gettysburg collegians on their own field. This game was a repetition of the game played on Warner Field a few weeks before, although the innings were more numerous. Sigler was on the mound for Susquehanna. He pitched an excellent game, this being his first appearance in the box this season. Wise was in the box for Gettysburg but was later replaced by Plowman. In the ninth inning it looked like Susquehanna's game but the breaks were against the locals and Gettysburg won.

Mt. St. Mary's College	8
Susquehanna	3

"Buck" Weaver was on the mound for Susquehanna for the first two innings of the game but was replaced by "Dutch" Stetler who pitched the balance of the game. Haggerty was on the mound for the opponents. The collegians were well in the lead when Weaver left the mound and Susquehanna was unable to overcome this led. Haggerty was a very efficient "twirler", having quite a few strikeouts to his credit.

Mercersburg Academy	10
Susquehanna	6

Susquehanna met the Mercersburg aggregation at Mercersburg on April 23, this making the third consecutive game on the trip. On account of the limited number of men on the pitching staff, Susquehanna was compelled to pitch Sigler again after only one day's rest from the Gettysburg game. On account of the condition of the diamond at Mercersburg they were compelled to play on an improvised field.

The Orange and Maroon defeated the Pittsburgh nine on Warner Field at Selins Grove on April 28. During the first three innings of the game the outcome was dubious. The westerners displayed a great amount of team work in these periods that held the Orange and Maroon aggregation to an even score. "Buck" Weaver was on the mound for Susquehanna and pitched excellent ball, keeping the visitors hits well scattered, so that they only scored one run which occurred in the second inning. During the rest of the game the defense of the westerners fell completely.

Hahnemann College	0
Susquehanna	5

Before one of the largest crowds of the season the Susquehanna hammered its way to a 5-0 victory over Hahnemann on Warner Field on May 7. This game was characterized by no errors on the part of either team. Ten hits were massed by the Orange and Maroon stickmen. Weaver, mound man for Susquehanna, had the visitors at his mercy throughout the entire game, allowing them only four hits.

Waynesburg College	9
Susquehanna	0

Susquehanna was completely at the mercy of the strong Waynesburg nine when they played at Greenough Field at Sunbury on May 13. The visitors crossed the plate nine times while the local lads were unable to score a single run. Owing to the superior pitching of Neal, who was a wonder at mixing them up, and who only allowed Susquehanna three hits, defeat was soon spelled for Susquehanna. Weaver had poor control and poor support from his team mates throughout the entire game.

Albright College	4
Susquehanna	11

After a two weeks workout and rest Susquehanna met and defeated the Albright stickmen on Warner Field on May 27. The Orange and Maroon aggregation piled up twenty hits against Kingsley's delivery, while Weaver was only touched for five. The heavy slugging of our squad was the main feature of the game. The runs scored by Albright were the result of triples. In the last few innings their team was completely unnerved on account of the poor control of Kingsley's delivery.

Albright College	2

The Susquehanna stickmen journeyed to Myerstown where they met and defeated the Albright team for the second time this season. This game proved to be very interesting from the spectators standpoint. Weaver, who was on the mound again for Susquehanna, was in excellent condition and humbled the Albright boys in true style. At no time was the outcome in doubt as the Susquehanna boys played the better brand of baseball throughout the game. This game ended our victories for the season.

Lebanon Valley College	5
Susquehanna	2

The Orange and Maroon played their record game of the season when they lost to the fast Lebanon Valley Club. Stetler pitched for Susquehanna. Our boys played an excellent brand of ball until the eighth inning when Stetler weakened. The team was not in the best of condition on account of the long overland trips by automobile. This was the best display of team work that has been shown by the team during the entire season. Stetler pitched excellent ball during the first part of the game but his arm gave way under the terrific strain.

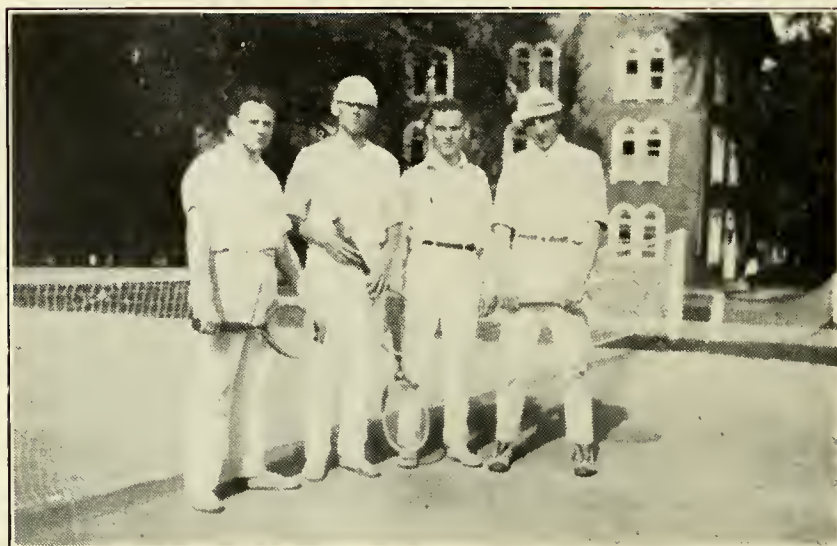

Bucknell University	14
Susquehanna	3

This game was the real calamity of the season. With Rogowicz taken out of the game on account of injury, with Weaver out of the mound on account of a weakened arm, and with Leidich injured in the first inning, the team was completely reorganized. The new positions did not raise the spirit of the players as they were inexperienced in these places. Sigler lost complete control of his arm, allowing many runs on account of overthrows. The up-river collegians had an easy time of it, scoring fourteen runs, more than any team had scored during the entire season over our squad. Our men crossed the plate only three times in the game.

Bucknell University	7
Susquehanna	5

With Rogowicz still out of the game and an inexperienced man in the catcher's box, Susquehanna played their return game with the Bucknell nine on June 13 at Lewisburg. The Bucknell aggregation thought that the game was going to be a repetition of the first game with Susquehanna as the score at the end of the sixth inning was 7-0 in favor of Bucknell. Sweeney started the ball rolling by scoring a home run. In this inning five runs were massed against Bucknell's seven. The remainder of the game was completely a pitcher's game, although both pitchers were well worn, the players being on to the tricks of each from the previous game. Susquehanna ended her season with this creditable game.

Jokes

Dr. Woodruff (after reciting a bit of poetry): "Don't you think that is beautiful."

Sweeney: "It's sweet, Doctor."

TOO BAD

She changes the color of her hair
Unceasingly.
She changes her mind
Unendingly.
She changes her complexion
Unerringly.
She changes everything
Except her nose.
She can't change that
Unfortunately.

WAS HE RIGHT OR NOT?

Dr. Surface was questioning a class of Freshmen about birds. Having received correct answers to the questions about their feathers, bills, feet, and wings, he put the question: "What is a bird able to do that I am unable to do?" "Fly" was the answer he expected to receive. For several moments there was silence. The Freshman held up his hand.

"Well, my lad, what is it?"

"Lay an egg," answered the Frosh.

"Well, my boy, any college debts?"

"Nothing sir, but what with diligence, economy, and stern self-denial you will be able to pay."

She (to West Point Cadet): "Why do those Susquehanna boys tackle so high?"

Cadet: "They are from a Co-educational school and they get lots of such practice."

Dr. Aikens: "Mr. Cole, what is instinct?"

John: "Well, I uh—."

Dr. Aikens: "Well, instinct prompts dumb animals. Instinct prompts you and me."

"Dave" Stuempfle: "I want three more days after the end of vacation."

Dr. Aikens: "Oh, you want three more days of grace."

"Dave": "No. I want three more days of Millicent."

Dagle, Sr.: "Do you know my son, David, at Susquehanna?"

Stude: "Oh yes, we sleep in the same Economics class together."

Keller: "Gee, I had an awful dream last night. I dreamed I was in heaven."

James: "Did you see me there?"

Keller: "Yes. That's why I know it was a dream."

Prof. (in Zoology class): "How do you expect to learn anything unless you stop whispering and pay attention? If you want to get an illustration of the monkey, watch me."

"Bee" (to head waiter in dining hall): "I want a spoon."

Keller: "But we dare not here, little girl."

OLD S. U.

This world seems filled with many schools,
Each school seems full of people,
Each person aiming at the top
Of some high point or steeple.
Some pass the grades and through the High
Then seem content to stop—
But give me Susquehanna's, Susquehanna's halls
Where schedules make one hop.

CHORUS

For it is S. U.
S.U.S.Q.U.
E.H.A.N.N.A. Our boon.
She treats us royal—
To her be loyal
And wear the Orange and Maroon.
Yes, it is S.U.
S.U.S.Q.U.
E.H.A.N.N.A. we'll praise.
With colors flying,
The world defying,
To old S.U. our songs we'll raise.

On Warner Field we like clean sport,
In Foot and Base Ball battle.
In Basketball we keep our heads
Though other teams may rattle.
And when our Clubs should represent
Old S. U. in debate,
Or in some concertizing, concertizing stunt
We try to be sedate.

Jokes

Dagle: "Are you fellows reading Iliad in Greek class now?"

Blough: "No. We are following between the lines. Dr. Allison is doing the reading."

Prof. Grossman (to Klinedinst in Gym class): "Open the window, Raymond, and for goodness sakes, man, throw out your chest."

Beam: "Listen, Tom, were you up at Seibert Hall after seven last night?"

Tom: "No, I was only after one."

Freshman (at football game): "Why did they cheer when Bannon got hurt?"

Soph: "So the girls couldn't hear what he said."

"Beaty": "Oh, John, what an awful looking eye you have on you."

Morrison: "Oh, next to nothing, next to nothing."

Dr. Woodruff (calling roll): "Mr. Sigler."

No answer.

Dr. Woodruff: "Did Sigler answer?"

Class: "No."

Dr. Woodruff: "I thought I didn't hear anything."

Norman: "Say, Peg, you must have been up late last night."

"Peg" Spiglemeyer: "I was. I studied hard and late last night."

Norman: "Who was the subject "

Rickert: "Say, Harry, I sure do like to see you laugh."

Ramer: "Why?"

Rickert: "Because there seems to be so much of you that is having a good time."

Sigler: "Say, Dave, whose picture is that on your desk?"

Stuempfle: "That's no picture. That's my reflection."

Auman: "The next time you go to church with me I want you to come home with me."

Keller: "Can you blame me when I found something better to come home with?"

One Frosh: "They say the Doctor is sick today."

Other Frosh: "Thasso. What's the complaint?"

First Frosh: "No complaint. Everybody satisfied."

Merchant (to Advtg. Mgr. Lanthorn): "Well, how do I know that you will do as you say. I don't know you."

Mitchell: "Oh, you can take my word for that. I am studying for the Ministry."

Prof.: "Do you believe in a more elastic currency?"

Stude: "No. It's elastic enough. Why not make it more adhesive?"

Diemer: "I am growing a mustache, you know."

"Fensty": "Yes, so Long was telling me."
